TIPS to improve understanding

Tips on enabling others to understand you better - phrases and questions to take the heat out of highly charged exchanges.

The preparatory seminar – Don't just listen, but take notice! – explains how to make your storytelling a success and how best to deliver your messages.

This follow-on session gives you even more tips. It focuses primarily on the following three questions:

Who makes up your target group?

Which phrase or wording fits best – and where, who with, when and why?

What phrases can you use to take the heat out of highly charged exchanges?

How can you conduct a conversation successfully by choosing the right words?

We apply the four-way test and focus on ways of improving interaction among ourselves and with each other.

In the seminar, you are asked to complete a task as a starting point for discussion.

Invest around eight hours in yourself and map out the pathway to good practice in conversations.
